MONTHLY UPDATE

Asian markets remained under pressure in October, with the relevant Asian benchmark declining by a further 6.1% in net USD terms, as concerns about China’s outlook weighed on sentiment.

At the National Party Congress in China, President Xi concentrated his power further by packing the Politburo Standing Committee with loyalists. Nevertheless, the economy is still slowly recovering, aided by stimulus.

In India, inflation looks to have peaked, which could open the door to a moderation in the pace of rate hikes from December. Elsewhere, Indonesia’s central bank hiked its policy rate by a further 50bp in October, while Vietnam also hiked by another 100bp to 6%.

Meanwhile, Malaysia’s Prime Minister called a snap general election, scheduled to take place on 18th November.

We added Indusind Bank to the portfolio, which is highly leveraged to the robust Indian economy, as well as Maruti Suzuki due to our positive view on the Indian passenger vehicle cycle. We exited Antofagasta due to our negative outlook on copper prices in the coming years. Meanwhile, we switched from China Pacific Insurance to AIA, where we believe the business model is superior.

CAPITALISATION

PERFORMANCE CONTRIBUTORS AND DETRACTORS

In October, Alquity Asia Y class declined 7.2% in US Dollar terms (net) versus the 6.1% decline from the relevant Asian index.

The Fund benefited from its positioning in China (notably Wuxi Lead Intelligent Systems and Nissin Foods), and the overweights in Indonesia, Pakistan, Bangladesh and the Philippines.

However, the Korean market (where we are significantly underweight) rose 8.4% in US Dollar terms during the month, driven by numerous companies that we consider to be ESG fails as well as the poor performance of our holding in LG Household & Health. This more than offset all the aforementioned positives, and resulted in the overall disappointing performance for the month.

The overall underweight to Energy (for ESG reasons) also was a material negative contributor.

ESG: KEY PROGRESS INDICATORS

For all portfolio holdings, we track a set of Key Progress Indicators “KPIs” that represent a general set of transparency and ESG standards we want all firms to meet over time. In each case, the assessment has a financial motivation and an associated positive potential impact in line with the principles of the UN Global Compact. The chart summarises the where we stand in relation to the KPIs for all the portfolio holdings. These KPIs support our engagement activity with our holdings.
